

ED20 POSITIVE SPACE DISCOUNT PROGRAM

08/11/08

The ED20 Positive Space Discount Program allows employees of US Airways mainline and wholly owned subsidiaries, retirees, and their eligible family members who are activated for travel privileges in the employee/retiree ETC travel profile, including parents/in-laws and registered guests, to purchase positive space tickets on US Airways and US Airways Express at a 20% discount off most published rates. The 20% discount does not apply to web fares.

Discounted positive space, reduced rate, or free space available travel privileges on US Airways (or any applicable OAL travel) are for personal and vacation travel only. Any discounted or pass travel by an employee, eligible family member, companion, or guest for business affairs associated with self-employment or with any firm/organization other than US Airways are in violation of pass travel policy.

Attempting to travel space available while holding a confirmed, positive space reservation on the same flight will result in disciplinary action, including loss of pass travel privileges and up to and including termination of employment.

Passengers traveling on ED20 discount tickets are handled in the same manner as other revenue passengers.

Denied boarding compensation is applicable. Involuntary compensation is based on actual amount paid. Lost/damaged baggage procedures are the same as for revenue passengers. Passengers traveling on ED20 discount tickets are handled in the same manner as other revenue passengers for unaccompanied minors. The escort fee does apply.

Passengers on ED20 tickets are considered revenue passengers. Therefore, they are subject to all rules and restrictions of the fare purchased including change fees and non-refundable restrictions. The passenger is also subject to all checked baggage and excess/overweight baggage fees.

Passengers on ED20 tickets may accrue mileage for the trip flown. The DM membership number(s) should be given to the Reservations agent at the time of booking.
