

Non-Rev Checked Bags Policy Change

US Airways recently increased bag fees for revenue customers traveling with oversize and overweight bags. Effective June 1st, employees and eligible travel dependents will still be able to check their first and second bags free of charge when non-revving. However, if those bags exceed 50 pounds and/or are oversized or checking three bags or more (per passenger), the employee and eligible travel dependents will be charged according to the chart below.

Guest pass travelers will continue to pay checked bags fees with the first bag and any oversize/overweight fees apply as well.
